Att. to OFPA- 32605
Dated: AUG 22 1951

SUBJECT : OUN/Malynk Contacts with the French Intelligence
SOURCE : ABCASSOWARY/28
DATE OF REPORT: June 1951

1. The leading members of the OUN/Malynk in France are believed to be in contact with the Deuxieme Bureau (sic). The leading members of the OUN/Malynk, Alexandre BOIKO and Gleb ZHDANOVICH alias Gleb SHTUL and Vladimir LEZOVINSKY, all work in the publication office of the Ukrainian newspaper entitled Ukrainska Slovo, 3, rue Sabot, Paris, 6e; telephone NIEber 09-05.

2. The contact of Iacobir E. HOUZAR, the director of the newspaper, with the French intelligence is currently sporadic since the latter also works for an import-export house and is very often absent from Paris. As a result, HOUZAR has little time to occupy himself with Ukrainian affairs.

3. The alleged contact with the Deuxieme Bureau is established through the intermediary of several individuals:

a. Iacobir E. HOUZAR. During the German occupation of Paris, Subject evacuated to the free zone and worked at Vichy in a telephonic intercept service. It was at this time and through his work with the intercept service that he made his contact with members of the Deuxieme Bureau. After the liberation of Paris, he returned to that city in his belief that he would continue to collaborate with the G-2 for about two years. This supposition was based on the fact that although he had no job, his material situation was very good. Although it was well known in the emigration that his collaboration with French intelligence, Houzar did not seem concerned about this. Emile BORSHAK has often spoken to sources about Houzar in very harsh terms. Source thinks it is because Houzar may have written reports for the French IS on Borshak;

b. Serge TATAROLA. 8, rue Gustave Rouanet, Paris, 18e. During the war he was in contact with the Deuxieme Bureau and after the war worked for military censorship until 1946 or 1947. He also boasted publicly about working for the Deuxieme Bureau but never precisly the nature of his work. Since the beginning of 1948 Subject has been working as a chemist somewhere in Paris. He is a very vain person and often states publicly that he is in contact with influential individuals. He is very interested in the private lives of individuals and their activities and asks questions of a personal nature which, in principle, could be of interest only to an intelligence organization;

c. Dmitre SHUL. Older brother of Lubomir Kowzer. Dmitre is an engineer and for professional reasons is in contact with the Ministry of War. Dmitre claims to have invented a small and inexpensive Geiger counter which the Ministry of War is interested in. Dmitre has personally told source that he is still in contact with members of the Deuxième Bureau.

It would seem that Olah SHUL is the principal contact for this group of the Deuxième Bureau.

MICHALITCHIK told source that SHUL was in contact with the French Deuxième Bureau and is preparing a study on the struggle and activity of the partisans in the Ukraine for the French Intelligence Service.
